The secret of this corner of the country is its diversity. The region is divided east and west by the Cascade Range, whose volcanic peaks have enriched the valley soils over millenia with minerals and water-retaining qualities. Between the rain-drenched western coast, and the arid eastern border, a remarkably varied list of produce thrives. With irrigation made possible by the Willamette and Columbia Rivers, this region has it all — plenty of water, plenty of sun, and perfect soil.

Harvested at perfection, straight from the source...

Oregon Growers celebrates our passion for food by capturing the mouth-watering freshness of the region's finest produce at its moment of perfection. Working with local farmers, we move in sync with the seasons, harvesting when flavor peaks to bring nature's bounty to you — straight from the source.

Fruit Butters - what makes our Fruit butters special is that they contain no dairy products, so they are perfect for your vegan friends!

Technically, a fruit butter is a smooth and creamy spread made with fruits (usually apples) and sugar that is slow cooked to a smooth, opaque consistency. Most producers will buy pureed fruits, then add sugar and cook to the desired consistency.

At Oregon Growers, we start with orchard-ripe apples, pears and pumpkins, and cook them to make our own puree, then add cane sugar and just the right amount of spices to create a product that all of your friends and family will enjoy!
